Music Games for your Guests

We know that beside good music, every company event has to entertain and offer something special.

We have therefore created our special music games, where your guests will interact with Michael's band and compete for interesting prizes.

This way we also save time and costs for our customers, HR managers and event agencies and help them to fill out the overall entertainment program.

Michael's Personal Approach

After performance, many artists "take the money and leave". Michael's approach is different. If appropriate for your venue, Michael will join you and your audience after his performance and will personally meet and talk to the people, helping you to create a great and unique atmosphere for everyone.
