

BIOGRAPHY

Bob Berryhill, original guitarist of the surf rock group The Surfaris began his professional music career by co-composing and recording Wipe Out, one of the most popular and influential instrumental songs of all time, as recognized by Billboard Magazine and the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. This year, The Surfaris are nominated for the Musicians Hall of Fame, located in Nashville, TN. Wipe Out, Surfer Joe and other hits captured the sound of the 1960's.

Initially catapulted by the California surf culture, The Surfaris transcended the local scene into international stardom. Bob continues to play the music and tell the amazing story behind the music of THE SURFARIS. The band celebrated Wipe Out's 50th Anniversary with a tour covering CA, HI, AZ, SD, NV, IL.
