

Sender's Dream

SHATTER WICK Full Credits

Music and words by: Pat Gibbons & Dan Hylton
Lead Vocals: Dan Hylton
Electric Guitar: Pat Gibbons, Dan Hylton
Rhythm Guitar: Pat Gibbons
Bass: Dan Hylton
Strings: Mark Anderson and Dan Hylton
Piano: Mark Anderson
Drums: Milos Delich, appearing courtesy of Top Drum Tracks Studios Engineering: Dan Hylton at North Wind Blow Studio, Minneapolis MN Mastering: Tom Nunes at Atomic Disc, Portland OR

LYRICS

*I was attacked by god's teeth
When I fell into the street (and scuffed my hands)
It was Tuesday and six degrees with a breeze.
I staggered for some coffee with invitations from the past Showing them my hands and stretching for the glass I peered inside but my heavy breathing fogged their view, so I moved on a dead bird caught day's last glow as I shivered in the lonely cold
I cast my gloves away for fear of blood and pebble pain
I crept into a station, and asked for a direction.
It was warm and I passed cheap beer for sale in view of everyone
But the brutes & hips gave me up, the teeth were notified so I moved on crawling, battered, heartbroken in my wounds
I came upon a girl, a windy spot, tea for two difficult candles, dancing like her dark hair
It was Thursday and warmer with a steady rain*

"Shatter Wick" is © 2021 by Rafting Records, All Rights Reserved