

Wolf Den

Schnebelen/Osborne

There's this place I know, don't many go
They say if you stay too long, you're gonna lose your soul
An old beat up shack, down by the tracks
Hidden at the end of a long and winding path
Just come to the bar they don't care who you are

Welcome to the Wolf Den, come on in
Welcome to the Wolf Den, what's your sin

There's a lady in red, comes up to you and says
"Baby I've been watching and it looks like you could use a friend."
I've got your fix so you can get your kicks
With one little taste of what I've got here in my bag of tricks
Just turn down the path, can't wait to get back

Hey there in the Wolf Den, can I come on in Hey there in the Wolf Den, can I come on in, let me in

When the light of the sun says the night is done
You're stumbling down that path on that long, lonely journey home
You're on your own, been chewed to the bone
Still you can stop thinking bout when you'll get back down that road
You're howling for more
Scratching at the door
