Just Released: Twelve Nights with Tracey

By Tracey Caswell, the best-selling author of Tea with Tracey

Hamilton, Bermuda April 3, 2012 — Tracey's second book, quite a different adventure, displays the same humour and upbeat style with 68 pictures as well! Focusing on the gift that keeps on giving and creating memories to last a lifetime, she shows how one gets what they give, even when starting out with very few resources. The captivating first paragraph... "Well really, the only thing to do was have him kidnapped by a Playboy bunny. So I did." leads into a fascinating story of how gifts without meaning were something Tracey could not bring herself to give.

Chronicling twelve nights that took five years to complete, the book not only serves as inspiration but is a source of a multitude of interesting and educational facts Tracey came to discover on this journey. The mighty cast of volunteers who helped bring together the costumes, food, decorations and entertainment allowed her to take her surprised husband traveling around the world without leaving home. This non-fiction account gives many tips and ideas on how one might follow in her footsteps – even for just one special night.

Twelve Nights with Tracey is available at the Bookmart, Bermuda Bookstore, A.S. Cooper & Sons and the Bermuda Craft Market.
