

Lay Me Down

From the album "Pocket Change" by Berkley Hart Written by Jeff Berkley

It was all my fault
I know that you were right we went for a walk
after suppertime

I said that I was sorry out underneath the moon you put your arms around me I smelled your perfume

Chorus:
lay me down
by the riverbank
leave your gown
at the garden gate
the grass is high
don't hesitate
there's no one else around
lay me down

oh my god
you make the air feel thin swimming bare in the starlight beggin' me to get in the river feels like holy water washing away my sins
come up for air
and we're eye to eye
soul to soul
and skin to skin

on the ground
and we'll be one with the river sound can't find the words
there is no noun
but I can show you here & now
