

Has Anybody Here Seen Hank?

From the album "Pocket Change" by Berkley Hart
Written by Mike Scott & Anthony Thistlethwaite

I ain't here for to do any business
I got nobody special to thank
I'm trying to find
A friend of mine
Has anybody here seen Hank?

Well he's sure to be wearing a Stetson
He's as long and as thin as a plank
He's got a fistful of charm
And a gun beneath his arm
Has anybody here seen Hank?

Now he ain't in the back of a limo
And he ain't in his bed
He ain't in jail
And he ain't out on bail
He ain't out of his head

I don't care what he did with his women
I don't care what he did when he drank
I just wanna hear one more note
From his lonesome old throat
Has anybody here,
Has anybody here seen Hank?
